Maher Outclassed.

As to the fight, there was little to it. Maher was completely outclassed by the clever Choynski. Maher showed that he is no longer the great Dancing followed, and the merry pin- tried time after time to get in his famous right swing on Choynski, but the FITZGERALD-LEWIS BOUT Californian was too shifty and the blow only scattered the smoky atmosphere. The only good blow that Maher landed was a short left hook to the jaw. It was so effective that it made Choynski's knees knock together. Maher had a good chance then to administer further punishment, but Choynski, by good ring generalship, avoided the dangerous blows.

Realizing that the easiest way to beat Maher was to keep jabbing him, Cheynski started off by shooting his long left into Peter's face. The first time that Choynski landed this blow he raised a lump over Peter's right eye. Choynski kept up this jabbing and every time he landed Peter's head was sent back as if it had been jerked from behind. The jabs came so fast that Maner was tired and bewildered before the first round was finished.

or nev: before has there been seen such a large crowd in the Washington Sporting Club. By 9 o'clock every seat was occupied while more than five hundred persons were compelled to stand up. All the prominent men in the Quaker City were on hand to see the fight and two hundred or more sporting men from New York were also at the ring side.

30 CENTIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 27.-Eddie Connolly has wiped out the defeat scored over him a few weeks ago by Tom Woodley the English welter-weight. The Yankee boxer met Woodley for the second time before the National Sporting Club last night, and, after fifteen rounds of fighting, Connolly was awarded the decision on points.

hard for the bout. He looked in prime shape, as did his English opponent. In the same old style which made Conthe same old style which made Con-nolly great a few years ago in America he started in to beat Woodley. In nearly every round he had the better of the argument, and at the finish the referee had no other alternative than to declare a verdict which deprived his countryman of the honors. For winning Connolly received $1,000. Half of that amount was a side bet.

MATTHEWS AND O'ROURKE DIDN'T FIGHT LAST NIGHT.

BOSTON, Jan. 27 .- Matty Matthews and Charley O'Rourke, the Boston welosed eight-round bout before the Crierion A. C. last night. Matthews was ready to go on, but O'Rourke was not.
The latter exhibited an injured hand and so the contest was postponed to some future date. O'Rourke hurt his

DECLARED NO CONTEST

(Special to The Evening World.)
NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Jan. 27. Willie Fitzgerald, the Brooklyn lightweight, and Willie Lewis, the east side boy, fought eleven of the hardest rounds ever seen in this city before the Pas time A. C., last night. In that round Referee Willis for some unknown rea son declared the bout "no contest," an-

The boys fought hard and fast from the sound of the gong in the first round. Lewis was the cleverer. He used a left jab with good effect and was outpointing Fitz. That state of affairs lasted ig Crowd Saw Fight.

Maher and Choynski acted as a great magnet on the boxing enthusiasts the end of the tenth round matters were very even.

In the eleventh round Fitzgerald claimed he was hit low by Lewis, but the referee would not allow the claim, and after the boys went to their corners the official called the bout off. The decision aroused a storm of hisses. The action was thought to be unwarranted.

the Lefferts and De Long Councils, of the Royal Arcanum, to-day. It is due to the success of their teams in the games against the All-American trio on the Elephant alleys in Brooklyn last night. The champions were in very good form, but they found it impossible to keep up with the pace set by the six bowlers from the two councils.

The All-Americans played three other councils, or five games in all. They won all except those against the Lefferts and De Longs, and scored a total of 2.861 points. That was 100 more than all five councils of the Royal Arcanum bowled. The total of the fifteen Royal Arcanumites was 2,761. In a match with Phil Wolf, against Dodez and Miller, Petersen, of the All-Americans, scored 254. It was the highest score of the day. The score of the All-American fol-
